

INTRODUCTION TO PIVOT

May 2016 – Daniela Cason

The Core Challenge

- Finding funding for a given research project
- Finding the right faculty for a strategic opportunity

What is Pivot?

- Funding Opportunities=28,000+ records
- Scholarly profiles= 3.3 million profiles (and growing)
- Pivot suggests funding based on Pivot profile

- Most comprehensive source for connecting researchers to funding opportunities
 - Trusted source for 30 years
 - Activity Location all over the world / 89 countries
 - 11,500+ national and international sponsors
 - All categories of sponsors, public and private
 - government agencies, private foundations, corporations, non-profit organizations, ...
 - Funding for many purposes
 - grants, fellowships, capital improvements, travel, visiting professors, training and more

- Advanced academic and professional work
(not financial aid or undergrad scholarships)
- All opportunities are currently available with confirmed or anticipated deadlines for as much advanced notice on opportunities as possible.
- Once a deadline has passed on an opportunity that will not be offered again, the record is purged from the database.

Number of opportunities + sponsors from S Europe

- Number of individual sponsor organizations from Southern Europe are 276
- Total Funding available from S. Europe is 45 Million if we use country filters as S.Europe. However some orgs from/US also extend to them and that would be $64Mil in funding available.
- If citizenship is the filter criteria for researchers to apply for Ops then we have a higher number. This number is high because we have many ops that are Unrestricted in citizenship
- For Spain+Portugal+Italy+Greece we have 10794 opportunities
- For just Italy we have 10,701 ops
- EU is in the 10K plus range as well

- Over 3.3 million profiles and growing
 - Over 200 disciplines represented
 - Global coverage – 75 countries
 - 2,100 universities
 - Proprietary disambiguation algorithm to link people to publications
 - An aggregated content store is produced from Public sources, publishers, academic institutions, integrated web searches

- Profiles of faculty members as found on university websites
- Created with data available for part-time & adjunct faculty (some graduate students)
- Pivot approach to creating profiles inclusive
- Researcher's websites
- Scholar supplied information
- Content from over 70 ProQuest-proprietary databases mined for author publications back to 1990
- ERIC dating back to 1990 | PubMed – dating back to 1956
- Indexed information found in publically available sites
- Editorial processes are applied to content for validation and consistency

Extended Profile Content

- Contact information including E-mail address
- Up-to-date author affiliation
- Links to co-author profiles
- Verified publication list (not necessarily a complete list)
- Link to scholar's CV
- Link to personal web site
- Research Interests
- Additional information as available such as
 - Grants
 - Associations
 - Honors

- Minimizes need for researchers to maintain multiple copies of their profile with multiple systems.
- Ensures a clearinghouse exists which fosters the easier interchange of profile data.
- Allows a service like Pivot to focus on how we can employ profiles to make other tasks (for example - finding funding and research collaborators) easier.

Claim Your Profile

1

Log in and click on claim profile

The screenshot displays the Pivot website interface for the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor. The top navigation bar includes a home icon, 'Funding', 'Profiles', 'Funding', and 'Search' tabs. In the top right corner, there is a notification for '6 Announcements', a user profile for 'Bradley Carter', and a 'HELP' button. A red box highlights the 'Claim profile' option in the user menu, with a red arrow pointing to it from the 'Funding' tab. The main content area features a sidebar with options: Active, Tracked, Saved Searches, Shared, and Received. The main content area is titled 'Tracked Opps' and contains instructions on how to use the Tracked list for funding opportunities, including a 'View Tutorial' link.

2 Look through the matches and select This is me – otherwise select Suggest a scholar

The screenshot shows the ProQuest Pivot interface for the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor. The user is logged in as Bradley Carter. The search results for 'Bradley Carter' show two matches. The first match is for Bradley Kent Carter, Associate Professor at Southern Methodist University, with a 'This is me' button highlighted by a red box and an arrow. The second match is for Bradley Carter, Environmental Science Program at the University of South Florida, with a 'Claimed' status. A 'Suggest a Scholar' link is visible in the left sidebar.

Check the Turn Alert email on to be alerted on changes for an opportunity

The screenshot shows a tracked opportunity titled "Nanomanufacturing (NM)" with a date of "16 Feb 2016" and an "Options" dropdown menu. The menu items are:

- Share
- Untrack
- Move to Tracked
- Add Tags
- Add to calendar
- Turn Alert email on
- Add Deadline Reminder
- Who you shared with
- Who else is interested

An orange arrow points from the main content area to the "Turn Alert email on" option in the menu.

If you select Turn Alert email on we will send you an E-Mail when this opportunity is next changed in our system

5 Updated Opportunities will be clearly flagged

The screenshot displays a ProQuest interface for tracking an opportunity. At the top, the title "National Facilities" is followed by a red "updated" label, which is pointed to by a red arrow. To the right, a dropdown menu is open, listing several options: "Share", "Untrack", "Move to Active", "Add Tags", "Turn Alert email off", "Who you shared with", and "Who else is interested". A second red arrow points from the "updated" label to the "Options" dropdown. Below the main interface, two callout boxes are shown. The left callout box highlights the "Alert email on" status, with a callout pointing to an envelope icon. The right callout box highlights the "Deadline reminder on" status, with a callout pointing to a clock icon. Both callouts are connected to the main interface by a horizontal line.

The screenshot shows the ProQuest Pivot interface. At the top left is the 'pivot ProQuest' logo. On the right, there are links for 'Announcements', a user profile for 'Daniela Cason', and a 'HELP' button. Below the header is a navigation bar with a home icon, a 'Profiles' tab, and a search bar containing 'Funding' and a search icon. A red arrow points to the home icon. On the left side, a sidebar menu lists various search categories: 'Active' (5), 'Tracked' (3), 'Saved Searches' (2), 'Shared', 'Received', 'Advisor' (155), and 'Curated' (16). A red arrow points to the 'Saved Searches' category. The main content area shows a table titled 'Saved Searches (2)'. The table has columns for 'New Results for Aug 02 2015', 'Limited Submission', and 'Email alerts'. Two rows are shown: 'Advisor Alert' and 'nanofabrication', both with 0 new results and 0 limited submissions. A context menu is open over the 'nanofabrication' row, listing options: 'Share', 'Edit', 'Add Tags', 'View archived results', 'Alert email off', and 'Delete this search'.

Finding a Collaborator

Click on the Profile tag, and then advanced search

The screenshot shows the ProQuest Profiles interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a home icon, 'Funding', and 'Profiles' tabs. A red arrow points to the 'Profiles' tab. To the right of the navigation bar is a search bar with a dropdown menu set to 'Profiles' and a search button. Below the navigation bar, on the left, is a sidebar with the heading 'Update your profile' and a paragraph of text. Below this is a 'Pivot Channel' icon. The main content area has a heading 'Profiles' and a search input field with the placeholder text 'enter search terms'. A red arrow points to the 'Advanced Search' link below the search field. Below this is a section titled 'Researcher Profiles for ProQuest' with a list of categories and their corresponding 'view profiles' links:

Category	Action
▶ Government Information Solutions	view profiles
▶ Graduate Education Program	view profiles
▶ Information Solutions	view profiles
▶ Shared Services	view profiles
▶ Workflow Solutions	view profiles

2 Select Search outside my institution and enter your search details

The screenshot shows the ProQuest Profile Advanced Search interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'Funding' and 'Profiles' tabs. A search bar contains 'Profiles' and a search icon. Below this, the 'Profile Advanced Search' section is visible. It includes a search bar with the text 'nanomaterial*' and a 'Search' button. There are two radio buttons: 'Search inside my institution' (unchecked) and 'Search outside my institution' (checked). Below the search bar, there are several checkboxes under the heading 'Search in:'. The checked options are 'Expertise', 'Keywords', 'Homepage', 'Pub Page', 'CV Page', 'Title', and 'Abstract'. The unchecked options are 'Affiliation' and 'Scholar Name'. At the bottom, there is a 'Search by Name' section with three input fields: 'First name', 'MI', and 'Last name'. Three red arrows are overlaid on the image: one pointing down to the 'Search outside my institution' radio button, one pointing right to the 'Search in:' section, and one pointing down from the bottom right of the search area.

Expertise Nanomaterials for Electronics, Sensing, and Energy The Hersam Research Group applies the fundamental paradigm of materials science and engineering (i.e., the development of structure-property-processing-performance relationships) to hybrid hard and soft materials at the nanometer length scale. In many cases, the objective is to apply organic molecules to inorganic substrates in an effort to increase the functionality of the resulting hybrid system (e.g., silicon-based molecular electronics and more »)
